Computer Vision PDF 2

Modern computer vision heavily relies on convolutional neural networks (CNNs). These models are used in applications like autonomous driving and facial recognition.